There is also a feature called 'background messages' which will notify you when you receive new messages. There is also a feature of reducing incoming SMS quota by some percentage if you wish to avoid the messages coming in. The app also allows you to create and save custom themes for your tab. These themes are called 'blocks', and you can save more than one block for each tab to give your custom look. There is also a feature of easy switching of themes which you can do through the icon on top left of the app. In the settings, the app gives you the option to set the message limits for your tab. You will have to select either 'off' or 'off request' for each message type. Also, you can also set it up to forward the messages to another number.
